

March 2020

Dear parents/carers,

Policy in regard to spread of Coronavirus (COVID-19)

As you may be aware there have been lots in the news recently regarding the Coronavirus so we would like to reassure you that the Enfield Learning Trust is receiving advice from Health Protection England to ensure that all our pupils remain safe. Although the government update states that there have been very few cases reported in children, we feel as a Trust, that we should keep you informed as to the current position.

The advice to date is that we would encourage all staff and pupils of the importance of good hygiene practices to stop the spread of infection. All our schools are being regularly reminded throughout the day that hands should be washed with soap and water, even if hands are visibly clean. We do this regularly throughout the day and when children come in, after lunch and at the end of the day, as well as all the other usual times.

We ask that families reinforce this message at home, and contact 111 if they have contracted flu like symptoms (cough, difficulty in breathing, fever).

The Trust is routinely monitoring and applying the most up to date advice from central and local government. Our schools will continue to operate as usual until and unless there is significant change in the local situation.

Current advice applies in particular to individual travel to and from affected areas in the world. The school encourages all parents and carers to remain aware of the latest government advice and to follow that advice in order to limit the spread the infection. If any parent or carer believes the advice applies to them and takes action accordingly, then we ask that you advise the school as such.
